

Date and time: September 26, 2007, 12:00 noon

Title: "Little House on the Prairie Adds Extra Rooms (and Takes In Boarders)"

Location: Townsend and Townsend and Crew, 1200 17th Street, Suite 2700 , Denver, CO 80202

Description: Noel Silverman, Esq., will discuss the issues and challenges raised by his representation of the Laura Ingalls Wilder Estate, including the following topics:

- Management of the series of publishing agreements related to the "Little House on the Prairie" works, some of which were entered as long as 75 years ago.
- Publishing activity surrounding the original eight books and the additional 40-plus books that are part of the growing "Little House" family.
- The interrelationships among the "Little House" Prairie television series and the on-going activities in reserved rights areas, such as the anticipated Broadway musical and other theatrical productions.
- Noel also will answer questions from the audience.

Noel specializes in copyright law, including specifically entertainment, music, theatre, film, television, and literary matters. He has practiced law in New York for over 50 years and is active in the Copyright Society of the U.S.A., where he served as a Trustee on two separate occasions. He is an Advisory Editor of the Entertainment Law Reporter and has published numerous articles on entertainment law matters.

One hour of CLE credit has been requested. Lunch will be provided.

RSVP to: lbboyte@townsend.com by September 21, 2007. Space is limited to 30 participants.

Website: http://www.csusa.org/chapters_rockies.cfm