

Anke E. Steinecke

Anke Steinecke is Vice President and Associate General Counsel at Random House, Inc. in New York, where she serves as primary legal counsel to the Knopf Publishing Group in all aspects of the publishing process and business affairs. In addition to handling claims and supervising litigation, she provides prepublication review of editorial, advertising and promotional copy and legal advice on print, electronic and internet publishing. Her transactional work includes intellectual property rights acquisition, licensing, co-publishing agreements and corporate acquisitions and investments. Prior to joining Random House, Ms. Steinecke was an attorney with the law firm of Davis Wright Tremaine LLP where she advised book publishers, national magazines, newspapers, and individual authors and artists in the areas of libel, privacy, copyright, trademark, unfair competition, newsgathering issues, and advertising and publishing law.

Ms Steinecke is an active member of the Bar Association of the City of New York where she currently serves as member on the Copyright Committee and previously as member of the Communications & Media Law Committee and the Trademark Committee. She is also a member of the Freedom to Read Committee of the Association of American Publishers and the Forum on Communications Law of the American Bar Association, where she served as Vice-Chair of the Young Lawyers Division, Law & Media Committee.