

MELINDA DEMSKY MEHRINGER

Melinda Demsky Mehringer is the Senior Vice President of Content Protection Litigation for Fox Group. Her responsibilities include managing digital copyright and anti-piracy litigation for all News Corp/Fox entities (including the film company, television network, and internet companies such as MySpace). She also advises on content protection technology and policy within the corporation.

Melinda is a 1995 graduate of Stanford Law School, where she graduated with distinction and was elected to Order of the Coif. She also won various writing awards and the Moot Court Competition. Melinda also received her undergraduate degree from Stanford, with distinction, in 1991.

Following law school, Melinda clerked for The Hon. Fern M. Smith of the Northern District of California in San Francisco. She practiced law at Munger Tolles & Olson, LLP, where she focused on complex commercial and intellectual property litigation. She later served as in-house technology counsel for Yahoo!, and as Director of Corporate Development of digital rights management company, InterTrust Technologies Corporation. She joined Fox in 2002.

She can be reached at melinda.demsky@fox.com.

Please note that Ms. Demsky Mehringer's statements and opinions expressed on the panel are her own personal views and not her company's.