

Scott Bain
Litigation Counsel, SIIA

Mr. Bain manages and conducts the litigation of the SIIA, trade association of the U.S. software and digital publishing industries, on behalf of the association and its member companies. Mr. Bain formerly was a Partner at the firm of Wiley Rein LLP in Washington, DC, and also Vice President of Legal Affairs at the Recording Industry Association of America. He has litigated a wide variety of IP cases, including the notable copyright case of Lowry's Reports, Inc. v. Legg Mason, Inc. yielding one of the largest statutory damage awards in history, and the patent case of NTP v. Research in Motion, Ltd. (the "blackberry case"). Mr. Bain also is co-author of the 2005 book "Copyright Law in the Digital World: Basics, Law and Policy" and many other IP publications, and is Chair of the ABA International Task Force on Piracy. A former software engineer, he graduated from the University of Minnesota with a Bachelor of Electrical Engineering degree. He received his J.D. from Boalt Hall School of Law at the University of California-Berkeley in 1997, and following law school, clerked for the Honorable Randall R. Rader of the U.S. Court of Appeals for the Federal Circuit.
