

Dan Cooper
Vice President Business & Legal Affairs
MySpace, Inc.

Dan is currently Vice President of Business & Legal Affairs for MySpace, Inc. where he focuses primarily on copyright, trademark, and general IP counseling/compliance issues, as well as content licensing and the management of litigation. Prior to MySpace, he was formerly the General Counsel of Perfect 10, Inc., where he coordinated a campaign of high-profile Internet piracy cases, resulting in numerous published opinions regarding issues of first impression. He began his career by working at Mitchell, Silberberg & Knupp LLP, where he focused on entertainment litigation, including as part of the team that represented the record company plaintiffs against Napster, and later at Arnold & Porter LLP, where he was a member of the intellectual property & technology group. Dan received both his undergraduate and law degrees from Columbia University.
