

Douglas N. Masters

Douglas N. Masters is a Partner in the Chicago office of Loeb & Loeb LLP, and co-chairs the Firm's Intellectual Property Group. He litigates on behalf of clients ranging from sports leagues, athletes and entertainers to major corporations concerning the protection and exploitation of their content, brands, marketing and other intellectual property assets.

Mr. Masters is a Lecturer on advanced topics in intellectual property litigation at University of Chicago Law School, and is an Adjunct Professor of Law at Northwestern University School of Law where he teaches trial advocacy. Mr. Masters also is a member of the Editorial Board of The Trademark Reporter.

Mr. Masters earned his B.A. degree, with distinction, from Cornell University, and his J.D., cum laude, from Harvard Law School, where he was an editor of the Harvard's Women's Law Journal.