

KEVIN SAUL

Kevin Saul is a Group General Counsel at Apple where he leads the legal affairs team for the Internet Services Division, including the iTunes Music, TV and Movie Store, the App Store, Mobile Me and is busy launching the iBook Store. Kevin has been at Apple since 1995 holding various senior positions in the IP law group, Commercial Law Group, and Products Law Group. He is a founder of the iTunes Store, and his practice includes business development, transactional matters, IP, antitrust and various other cutting-edge legal issues. Kevin is an engineering graduate of Tufts University and earned his JD at Pepperdine School of Law. Kevin has also attained MBA and LLM degrees.